MONROE MAN INVENTS AND SELLS AIR BOMB; MAKES HUGE FORTUNE

United States Turns Down Aerial Torpedo But Arms Plant Immediately Buys It.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 8.—Word has just been received by relatives here from Lester Barlow that he has been successful in selling his aerial torpedo to the United States government. The invention, which is a small, self-propelled bomb, is guaranteed not to cost more than $50,000 a year, and has been accepted by the government for a trial. The inventor, Mr. Barlow, was born in Milwaukee, Wis., but when a child his parents moved to Clear Lake, Cal. When he was 15 he joined the United States navy and at the completion of his term of enlistment he became a member of the personal staff of General Francisco Villa. He remained with the Mexican leader until General Carranza had been recognized by his government and Villa had sworn he would kill all Americans in his country. Following this, Mr. Barlow, by standing up to his staff against the wall and ordering them shot, Barlow secured his freedom. He then returned to his home and at his first opportunity, he crossed the American border. Soon afterwards he exhibited the plans of his invention to the navy department, and it was given all manner of tests. A number of the explosives being manufactured. He was just preparing to set sail to offer the invention to the government when he was summoned to the offices of the Meritt Arms company and a flattering offer was made him. The torpedo which Mr. Barlow has invented is said to be absolutely perfect in every particular, being non-explosive until after it has been dropped from an aeroplane. After it has fallen from 500 to 700 feet, the explosion comes when it is within six or seven feet of the ground. It has no springs, wheels, cams or shafts, and is said to be very simple in construction.

Appleton Butcher Cured of Rupture

Dr. N. A. Goddard,
Milwaukee, Wis.
Dear Sir:—
I was ruptured on my right side twelve years ago and have worn a truss ever since. I came to you for treatment in March, 1915, and have completed my course of treatment and am well. I do not wear a truss any longer and feel strong and well on my right side. I have not lost a moment's time while being treated and have suffered no severe pain or inconvenience. I am glad that I came to you for treatment and only wish I had done so sooner. I am well satisfied with the way you have treated me and you may refer to me at any time anyone who wishes to investigate your method of curing ruptures without operation.

Cured of Leg Ulcer in Three Months

Letter from Mrs. John Tischenhausen of Black Creek.

Dear Doctor:
I came to see you at Appleton Sept. 14, suffering with a large varicose ulcer on my right leg which I had had for over a year and had gotten so much worse. After I had taken your months' treatment my leg was healed up. I am in good health and am glad that I came to you and got cured. I am satisfied in every way and am glad to testify to your skill and skill in treating these cases. You may refer anyone afflicted with a similar case to me.
MRS. JOHN TISCHENHAUSEN,
R. 32, Black Creek, Wis.

Prominent Appleton Man Cured
of Rupture

Dear Doctor:
I am writing to you today to say that I am not wearing my truss any more and that my rupture has entirely disappeared. I have been cured of my rupture and I feel strong and well on my right side. I have not lost a moment's time while being treated and have suffered no severe pain or inconvenience. I am glad that I came to you for treatment and only wish I had done so sooner. I am well satisfied with the way you have treated me and you may refer to me at any time anyone who wishes to investigate your method of curing ruptures without operation.

Milton News

Milton, Feb. 9.—Pastor Zimmer of the Lutheran church hits the nail on the head in the following message:
To My German-American Friends of Milton and Milton Junction and vicinity:
It is a great time in which we live, a time that counts on every true citizen. The friendly relations between the United States and our old Fatherland, Germany, are breaking new ground. The United States has spoken and other acts and measures may follow.

Therefore, let us stand by the president, let us stand by the flag, let us forget our private opinions. Let us not listen to what the heart feels. But let us listen to that duty to which our oath as citizens of the United States has called us. Like the 133,000 German-American soldiers in the war of the rebellion, let us stand for the honor of our beloved country.
—Rev. G. A. Zimmer.

GRANDMOTHER KNEW

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion of Colds
as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard-plaster burned and blistered while it acted. You can now get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

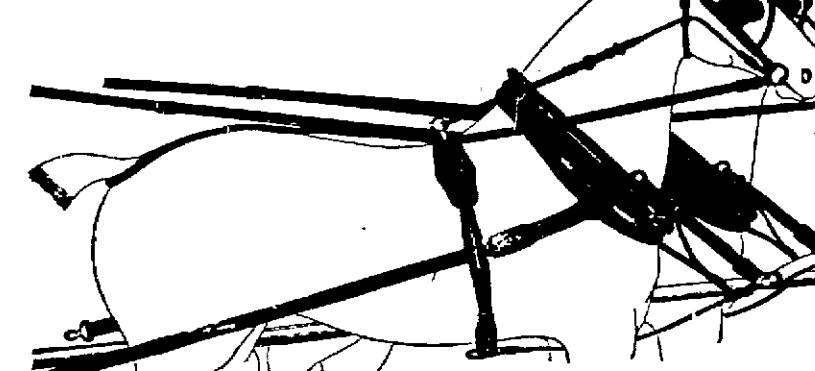

Musterole does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Just massage Musterole in with the finger tips gently. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

Use Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

OBITUARY.

Ole L. Stikkestad.
He came to Ole L. Stikkestad early this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. L. Bysted, 1408 Purvis avenue, following an illness of but one week. Though an old man and resident of this city for but two years, Mr. Stikkestad had won the love of many people with whom he had come into association at his daughter's home. He was a most kindly, sympathetic old man, with a deep love and interest in his family.
Mr. Stikkestad was born in Norway, August 7, 1840, and spent all of his early life in that country. In 1888 he was married to Miss Louise Thomsen, and in 1894 came with his wife to this country. He located near Stoughton and made his home there until two years ago, when he came to this city.
Mr. Stikkestad is survived by seven children: three sons, Ole Larsen of Stoughton, Martin Larsen of Cottage Grove, and Oscar Larsen of Beloit, and four daughters, Mrs. Geo. M. Johnson, and Mrs. Sanders M. Johnson, both of West Salem, and Mrs. A. L. Bysted and Miss Clara Larsen of this city. Burial and announcements will be made later.

Mrs. Della Wells.
The funeral of the late Mrs. Della Wells will be held tomorrow morning at St. Patrick's church at nine o'clock. Interment will be in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

MISCREANTS DEFACE WALLS OF CAPITOL

Madison, Feb. 9.—Some miscreant person has defaced some of the walls of the dome of Wisconsin's new $7,000,000 capital building. Discovery of this fact has just been made by Superintendent of Public Property Blumenfeld. He has offered a reward of $25 for information which will lead to the arrest of the guilty party. As a result it was decided today that fewer permits to people to go to the dome will be issued and these only to persons who shall be accompanied by a police officer. Obscene names were written on the wall.

All members of Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., are requested to be present at the regular meeting Monday evening, February 12th. Work in the first degree. Visiting brothers welcome.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH HOLDS SESSIONS TODAY

In conjunction with a special conference of Congregational pastors from the southern part of the state, the church will this evening hold its annual home gathering supper. In addition to the usual entertaining features of this dinner, the guests will have the opportunity of hearing talks by men of national prominence, who are gathered here for the conference.

A meeting of delegates from other churches this afternoon will consider a tercentenary program for the celebration of the Pilgrim's landing, and will take up the special denominational plans for this event.

Following this conference there is to be a social hour at half past five.

At half past six will be held the home gathering supper, and at seven thirty a general meeting at the church, at which the Reverend H. C. Herring and the Reverend C. H. Patton, both of Boston, will talk on the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims in 1620, and on "Our Church and the World's Outlook." Both of these men are well known not only in Congregational circles, but in many parts of the country where they have talked.

A. F. Watson, who has been very seriously ill, is much improved. A. F. Watson, Jr., was called up from Chicago because of his father's illness.

ENDS CONCERT TOUR IN SOUTH AMERICA

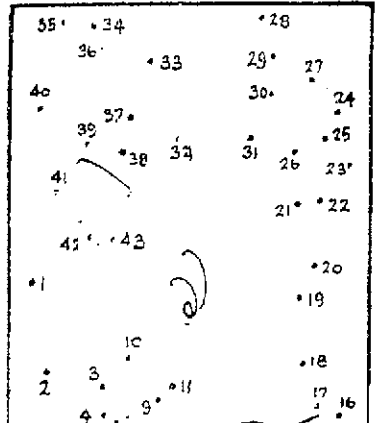

Miss Helen Voytych.

Miss Helen Voytych, an American violinist with youth and enthusiasm, has just returned to the United States after a successful tour in South America. She found that country as appreciative of good music as the continent of Europe and believes that artists in all lines will profit by having become acquainted with the western hemisphere since Europe has been out of. She is a native of Michigan.

MONROE PIONEER DEAD: WIDOW IS KIN OF JOHN D.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Monroe, Wis., Feb. 9.—Charles D. Corson, a pioneer harnessmaker of Monroe, and for sixty-six years a resident of this city, is dead at his home here of old age. Mr. Corson was 82 years of age. Up to forty-eight hours before his death he was up and about the house and his premises daily, apparently in the best of health, although a growing weakness due to his advanced years had been noticeable since the death of his daughter, Mrs. John E. Hawthorne, two months ago.

The deceased is survived by his wife, a near relative of John D. Rockefeller, to whom he was united in marriage fifty-nine years ago, one son, Frank E. Corson, for ten years register of deeds of Green county, and one daughter, Miss Cora Corson, who is a teacher in the Denver, Colo., city schools.

NEWS NOTES—MOVIELAND

Mary Garden, erroneously reported on two previous occasions to have signed for the movies, has done it at last, and indeed. Her corporation hasn't commenced grinding them out yet, but has engaged several other gifted stars, including Maxine Elliott.

THEY THOUGHT HE WAS A CAB DRIVER

A firm belief has been implanted in Dan Mason's mind that through some peculiar psychological twist of mind, the best of friends will accept the worst impression that might be gathered from a situation.

It all happened in Providence, R. I., where Mr. Mason, as Chillingworth, "The Scarlet Letter," was filling his part. As per scenario Dan, in typical cab-driver style, drove his vehicle to the railroad station. Just as he was helping the heroine into the cab three men passed who had formerly known him well.

BLIND MAN IN MOVING PICTURES

Probably the only blind man now acting in motion pictures is J. Van Cortlandt, who is playing in "The Great Secret," a new big serial. Mr. Van Cortlandt is an actor of culture and experience, and up to a little over a year ago was rarely out of an engagement. Then came his sad affliction. He had been working for a company in Chicago, and one night leaving the studio he was held up by thugs and robbed.

Finding that all he had was $4, the robbers blackjacked and beat him so severely that his eyesight was permanently affected. He came to New York to consult specialists and suddenly went blind. He is just able to distinguish between light and darkness, and has to be led about the streets. Yet strange to say he moves about the stage at the Quality studios with remarkable accuracy as though

NEW MYERS THEATRE.

"The Blue Paradise," the offering at the Myers theatre, Thursday evening, February 16, takes its title from an inn of the same name supposed to be located in Vienna, and although there are American characters in the operetta, all the scenes are laid in the Austrian capital. The story deals with the son of a wealthy Austrian gentleman, Rudolph Stoecker, who is overfond of conviviality and a constant visitor at the Blue Paradise inn, where he has fallen in love with Mizzi, a flower girl at the inn. Rudolph's father decides that a change of scene will be well for him and sends him to America to make his fortune. Twenty-four years later Rudolph returns to the scenes of his youth, having accomplished his mission in America, only to find that the little flower girl who had promised to be true to him, is now the wife of one of his boon companions. Rudolph, however, does not allow this to weigh too heavily on him and he turns to the widow of his late partner in America, who has

THE BAYLEY COMPANY HOLDS THE BOARDS

Well Known Stock Company Opens Last Evening at Myers Theatre for a Four Day Engagement.

Offering a widely known attraction, "The Laws of God and Man," the J. Willard Bayley Stock company started off on their four day engagement with the whole hearted approval of the rather small audience which greeted them on their first appearance in Jamesville at Myers theatre last evening.

"The Laws of God and Man" proved to be a dramatic offering very similar to "Within the Law," showing how in the end the laws of God always triumph over the laws of man.

The company supporting the leading roles proved capable and are deserving of support during their brief stay here. Between acts a number of high class vaudeville specialties were introduced and were very well received.

What's the Answer?

ROMEO AND JULIET
In 8 Superb Acts
With FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN
and BEVERLY BAYNE
In the elaborate screen production of "Romeo and Juliet," in which Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne portray the roles of the immortal lovers, these two famous stars are supported by the most notable cast ever assembled for a motion picture. There are scores of prominent artists of both the stage and screen, and the long roster includes a Booth, a Botham, a Mantell, a Kemble and a Davenport, names that represent the greatest histrionic families of this and a past generation. The principals in this eight-reel picturization of Shakespeare's immortal romantic drama are all leading dramatic actors and actresses with world-wide reputations. Many of them have starred in Shakespearean parts, and nearly every member of the cast has had a classical training. More than six hundred persons were used in the production, and no expense has been spared to make it the most notable offering that lovers of the silent drama have yet seen.

Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl now, there is time for that later.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I guess I am one boy out of a hundred. I have read the articles in your paper about kissing. I don't believe in boys kissing girls. A boy who makes it a habit to go with girls who can be kissed and does not care for them, is a disgrace to his name. He soon becomes known to all respectable girls and he can have only the ones that he has kissed; and probably they will turn against him.

Can you give me a recipe for making bran gems, as suggested in your monograph on constipation? (Mrs. E. W.)

ANSWER.—One egg well beaten. A pinch of salt. Butter the size of walnut, melted. Cupful sweet milk, cupful melted butter, cupful white flour. Cupful bran. Bake in gem tins.

Hot Feet. I am 75. My feet are much disturbed at night by burning of the feet. Is there any relief for this? (Mrs. E. L. C.)

ANSWER.—You probably require medical attention for arterial changes. That is a common cause of such trouble. Possibly rubbing the feet and legs at night with an alcoholic solution of menthol and camphor, each ten grains in the pint would give some relief.

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING. To wash white garments with colored trimming (especially green), cover the part where the trimming is (after you have wrung the garment out) with a white cloth and wash as usual. It will not run into the white as it is then entirely dry. Never soak colored goods, nor use hot starch.

To Wash Fishy Dishes.—Put them in hot, soapy water to soak for an hour, then wash with clear water.

Care of Silver.—When putting away the silver tea or coffee pot, which is not used every day, lay a little tallow under the cover; allows fresh air to get in and prevents mustiness. It will be ready to use any time after being thoroughly rinsed with boiling water.

Nothing is better to clean silver than alcohol and ammonia. Take a little white on a soft cloth and polish. Even frosted silver, which is so difficult to clean, may be easily made clear and bright.

KEEP WHITE. To keep crepe de chine articles which are careful to use lukewarm water, not hot; use white soap, rinse at least three times, then wrap in a towel for two or three days (keeping damp if inclined to dry out). Do not iron on the wrong side with a warm (not hot) iron. If these directions are followed carefully, your things will keep like new. It is the standing up in the damp towel that is the most important point.

Chop Suey. Imitation Chop Suey.—One and one-half pounds round steak, cut into small pieces, three large onions, one quart cabbage; cut all in one-inch squares.

Fry onions in butter until hot, put in all the meat and the celery, stir for five minutes, keeping tightly covered, then put remaining half cabbage on top (to indicate when it is done) and cook for ten minutes additional; keep tightly covered. When finished put in one tablespoon molasses.

Boil three-quarters pound rice plain, seasoned with half a tablespoon oil and one individual bowl of suey and serve with black tea.

This will make a full meal for five people or an ideal lunch for eight.

Called Chop Suey. The following is an excellent family recipe: One pound spaghetti, one can whole tomatoes, one and one-half pounds ground steak, two large onions, until done, then drain and add tomatoes. Fry onions in butter, add ground steak and fry until done, then add to spaghetti and tomatoes; boil for a few minutes and serve. This will serve five people.

ECONOMY SANDWICHES. For all sandwiches cut bread thin, spread with butter and wrap each sandwich in waxed paper.

Spiced Tender in salt water two pounds or less pig's liver. Drain, chop fine, add onion and pepper to taste (chop onion fine), put all together in spider, add one tablespoon flour, but stir until smooth, add one cup water, boil for ten minutes and serve.

Use when cold or hot.

Spread Lettuce. Leaves with prepared mustard, fold together; use between bread and butter.

Use Peanut Butter (buy the bulk); add salt to taste.

Bone and Mash Sardines.—Season with prepared mustard (those canned in oil are preferred).

NEW APPLE SALAD. Apple Salad (serves six).—Buy six cents' worth of small, round red (Cheney) apples. Put them in a kettle with two or three quarts of hot water. As soon as the color comes off remove and.

Then take six large apples, take out the cores and peel. Put the apples in a hot pink water and let cook slowly until apples are done. The red from candy colors the apples a pretty pink. Don't let apples cook too long or they will be too soft.

Drain off water, take apples out carefully and put on a plate to cool. When ready to serve put on apple on a bed of lettuce and top with whipped cream and chopped walnuts. Put whipped cream on top with some of the walnuts sprinkled over. The cream tastes better if a little powdered sugar is added.

This makes a cheap but very pretty salad.

GINGLES' JINGLES

THE GLASS FRONT. "We've got a swell front in our livery barn now," a townsman to me did relate, "the old wooden front has succumbed to plate glass, a beauty and right up to date; the reason is business is slotted; you see, the auto supplanted the old nag, we once had an outfit of twenty-three plugs, but business at it took a sag. To keep up the clip and hang on to the trade, some horses we swapped and we sold, investing the proceeds we got in machines—in silvers—some new and some old; at last we had left just five horses in all, and four of them pined 'till they died, the sight of the autos broke all of their hearts—a standing right there by their side. Just one trusty steed seemed to stick for the change, went through without losing his head, but when he today limped the nifty glass front—the trusty old charger, and if possible no dropped dead. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Karrel Kapsa Thru Down. I noticed in one of your answers an allusion to Karrel diet for the reduction of weight. Will you kindly explain what this diet is? (Mrs. W. L. B.)

ANSWER.—Karrel was a famous Russian physician. He found that a diet of limited quantities of skimmed milk was very efficacious in the treatment of obesity and also for certain cases of heart disease accompanied with dropsy. He is a fair specimen: Take a glassful (about 6 ounces) of skimmed milk at 8, 12, 4 and 8 o'clock, slipping it very slowly, hot or cold. No other food, and if possible no other drink on the Karrel day or days. Or the less water the better. It may be taken one, two or three days in the week, consecutively or alternately.

Overeating perpetuates itself. An excess of food in the foot tube excites the appetite for more. This is especially true of animal protein. A meat eater craves his meat exactly as a tobacco or alcohol user craves his drug; the meat intoxicates. Meat intoxication is probably the strongest incentive to the use of tobacco and alcohol. Any smoker knows that tobacco is least desirable when he is in a vegetarian diet and most attractive after a big cannibal feast.

St. Valentine's Day a Real Lace, 22 Karat Gold Affair Nowadays

(By Margaret Mason)
"Oh Valentine will thou be mine?" "Indeed I will," said she. "If you can prove you'll be a mine of gold and jewels for me."

New York, Feb. 9.—Alas! Poor little Dan Cupid is trailing his robes in the dust. He is leaning and discomfited on his quiver with a quiver of his under lip. Since munition millionaires are buying up hearts of rubies and scarves of white lace, it is not surprising that their fair Valentines this February 14th, Cupid feels red satin hearts and paper lace frills won't have a chance.

Oh where are the paper lace and lace Valentines of yesterday? The hand painted satin hearts pierced with gilded carols. All amorously inscribed with some choice and burning sentiment fresh from a passionate poet's pen. There are in the dust heap of the gods along with the broken vows, shattered hearts and withered flowers.

The modern maid is educated up to more than love tokens. She insists that the tinsel of her valentine be at least fourteen karat, if not twenty-two. Her paper lace must be real lace and any heart-shaped ones must be shiny jeweled ones instead of shiny satin.

Even the more sensible good old fashioned girls (and there really are a few left) balk at a Valentine that is rich only in sentiment. They will be made blissfully happy however with a heart shaped box of sweets, a heart shaped headed bag of candy or a heart shaped pillow of fluffy and airy lace heart shaped, over a slip of rosy satin.

Heart shaped pincushions to match are also appropos and there are packages of delicately lined satin hearts that can be snuffed at and set won't be. Heart shaped birch bark baskets and ones of tinted willow filled with flowers are most attractive gifts that one can give.

There are all sorts of heart shaped jewel boxes too ranging from gold, silver and carved ivory down to equally effective and less expensive enamel, lacquer, brass, ivory, and pewter.

If you send one of these with this telling little sentiment borrowed from one of William Winter's poetic heart "I send you, dear cupid's dispirited heart, You cannot fail to win the gratified adoration of your Valentine lady."

If you have the face to do it, a heart shaped picture frame of silver or colored leather makes a picturesque valentine and there are heart shaped crystal vials of perfume rare, fit for the most fastidious of noses. Love other sales only one who exchanges dollars for cents.

To bag a heart with a heart shaped bag would seem to be a popular sport this Feb. 14 for the varieties of valentine bags offered is most bewildering. There are sewing bags and darning bags and vanity bags and shopping bags and bags for anything at all. All of them are heart-shaped by any means although the majority are, but some, especially the beaded ones, carry out the Valentine idea by having a little cupid's picture in the center. A clever darning bag of cretonne is hung on arrow shaped rods instead of the plain brass lengths of curtain rod and it is trimmed in the fat little stuffed hearts in lieu of the usual ribbon bows.

Stuffed silk apples which have been borne so monotonously by every darning bag this season. An irresistible skating bag has a fat little cupid's smile and nothing else skating madly across its side in yarn embroidery.

The most elaborate, ornate and expensive of the valentine tokens I have glimpsed is a heart shaped brooch of rubies, encircled by an arrow of platinum from the empty center a drop of ruby gore. The nicest Valentine gift I think is a hand carved old gift and blue wood from the enshrining "The World. And think what a practical and useful gift for next year it will be so easy to change the photograph for another of the 1916 or more current Only-Man-in-The-World.

ENORMOUS PRICES FOR FOOD IN LONDON. (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) London, Feb. 9.—The level of retail food prices has advanced 54 per cent since the war began on twenty leading articles of daily use, according to the board of trade returns just issued.

As compared with prices in December, 1915 they showed an average advance of 29 per cent. The price of meat increased during the year by about 100 per cent. Potatoes were considerably more than double the price of a year earlier. Granulated sugar, eggs and cheese were dearer by 40 per cent, 35 per cent and 30 per cent, respectively. For flour, bread, butter, bacon, and fish, increases ranging from 19 to 27 per cent were recorded. The price of margarine increased during the year by 14 per cent. Tea alone, among the articles included in the returns, remained practically unchanged in price.

Everyday Wisdom

By DON HEROLD

JONES WAS IN A MINUTE TODAY—I'M AFRAID HE'S GOING TO GET FRIENDLY AGAIN.

ENEMIES. Enemies require no time or thought. They can be cultivated in your spare time, and taken up or dropped at your own convenience. Or you can drop them altogether and they will run along in fine working order, of their own accord.

Our friends could learn a great deal from our enemies, and there ought to be some way to bring them together.

Our enemies take perhaps even a keener interest in us than our friends, yet they ask nothing in return. They have good manners. They stay away from us until they have thought up something interesting and crisp and concentrated to say. They are reserved. They don't come and loaf a whole afternoon with us. They regard our individuality. In fact, they regard around talking about our individuality to other people. They use the best part of their brains for us.

That's the best thing of all about enemies. They are very thoughtful about any little favors they do for us. Our friends are sometimes very thoughtless about the favors they do for us, and they forget that when you do a kindness for a person, he hasn't any chance to talk back, and that kindnesses should even be more carefully thought out, and planned than injuries.

And says "Oh yes." She makes the sale and that lie helped her to do it. Things like that happen every day in business.

Then They Will Distrust All His Statements. Those young people are going to find it out. And then they are going to distrust other perfectly good teachings because of that overstatement.

Beware the Cold Storage Egg!

In his work on food and dietetics Doctor Robert Hutchison says, "the absence of carbohydrates prevents eggs from being in any sense a complete food." This refers to the fresh egg—the egg with a clean bill of health.

What would the Doctor say of the modern cold storage egg? At present prices two eggs cost ten cents—and the egg is not a complete food! Something must be eaten with it to supply the needed carbohydrates. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits, with cream or milk, make a complete, perfect meal at a cost of four or five cents. SUFFERED NINE YEARS

Many Remedies Tried in Vain. Well and Strong After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Spartanburg, S. C.—"For nine years I suffered from backache, weakness, and irregularities, and I could hardly do my work. I tried many remedies but found no permanent relief. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt a great change for the better and am now well and strong so I have no trouble in doing my work."

The reason women write such grateful letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives. Freed from their illness they want to pass the good news along to other suffering women that they also may be relieved. This is a praiseworthy thing to do and such women should be highly commended.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

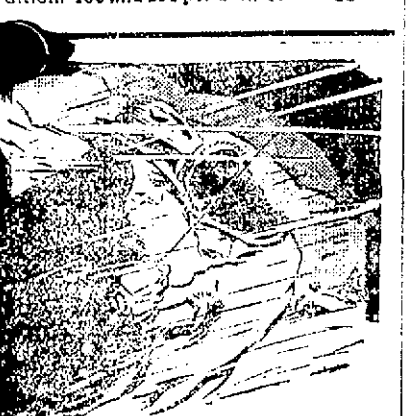

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

STOMACH SYMPTOMS

A leading physician of Chicago says: "Merely using the pain with narcotics to give relief is a long way from a cure for stomach trouble. Besides the danger of neglect or inadequate treatment may lead to more serious maladies. What appear to be only minor troubles are often the forerunners of such serious conditions as indigestion, gastritis, constipation, auto-intoxication, yellow jaundice, appendicitis, cancer and ulcers of the stomach and intestines, or other fatal ailments." Stomach sufferers should take warning. Do not have blind faith in treatments that are giving no result. Much suffering could be avoided, many surgical operations prevented, scores of lives saved had May's Wonderful Remedy been taken in time. It is not a long drawn out treatment. It acts on the very source and foundation of stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, eliminating from the system the hard, poisonous, catarrhal accumulations and shows them to you. Nan of Music Mountain

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN
Author of "WHISPERING SMITH"

(Copyright by Charles Scribner's Sons)

CHAPTER XXII.

An Ominous Message.

Few men bear suspense well; De Spain took his turn at it very hard. "Patience," he repeated the word to himself a thousand times to deaden his suspense and apprehension. Business affairs took much of his time, but Nan's situation took most of his thought. For the first time he told John Lefever the story of Nan's finding him on Music Mountain, of her aid in his escape, and the sequel of their friendship. Lefever gave it to Bob Scott in Jeffries' office.

"What did I tell you, John?" demanded Bob mildly.

"No matter what you told me," reported Lefever. "The question is: What's he to do to get Nan away from there without shooting up the Morgans?"

De Spain had gone that morning to Medicine Bend. He got back late and, after a supper at the Mountain house, went directly to his room. The telephone bell was ringing when he unlocked and threw open his door.

"Is this Henry de Spain?" came a voice, slowly pronouncing the words over the wire.

"Yes."

"I have a message for you from Music Mountain."

"Go ahead."

"The message is like this: 'Take me away from here as soon as you can.' 'Whom is that message from?'"

"I can't call any names."

"Who are you?"

"I can't tell you that. Goodbye."

"Hold on. If you're treating me fair—and I believe you mean to—come over to my room a minute."

"Let me come to where you are?"

"No."

"Let me wait for you—anywhere?"

"No."

"Do you think that message means what it says?"

"I know it does."

"Do you know what it means for me to undertake?"

"I have a pretty stiff idea."

"Did you get it direct from the party who sent it?"

"I can't talk all night. Take it or leave it just where it is."

De Spain heard him close. He closed his own instrument and began feverishly signaling central. "This is 101. Henry de Spain talking," he said briskly. "You just called me. Ten dollars for you, operator if you can locate that call, quick!"

There was a moment of delay at the central office, then the answer: "It came from 234—Tension's saloon."

"Give me your name, operator. Good. Now give me 22, and ring the hook off the bell."

Lefever answered the call on No. 22. The talk was quick and sharp. Messengers were instantly pressed into service from the dispatcher's office. Telephone wires hummed, and every man available on the special agent's force was brought into action. Livery stables were covered, the public resorts were put under observation, horsemen clattered up and down the street. Within an incredibly short time the town was rounded up, every outgoing trail watched, and search was underway for anyone from Morgan's gap, and especially for the sender of the telephone message.

De Spain, after instructing Lefever, hastened to Tension's. His rapid questioning of the few habitués of the place and the bartender elicited only the information that a man had used the telephone booth within a few minutes. Nobody knew him, or, if they did know him, refused to describe him in any but vague terms.

Outside, Bob Scott in the saddle waited with a fed horse. The two men rode straight and hard on the tracks. The sky was overcast, and snow was their only resource. After two miles of riding, they reined up on a ridge, and Scott, springing from the saddle, listened for sounds. He rose from the ground, declaring he could hear the strides of a running horse. Again the two dashed ahead. The chase was bootless. Whoever rode before them easily eluded pursuit.

Undeterred by his failure to overtake the fugitive, De Spain rode rapidly back to town to look for other clues. Nothing further was found to throw light on the message or messenger. No one had been found anywhere in town from Morgan's gap; whoever had taken a chance in delivering the message had escaped undetected.

Even after the search had been abandoned the significance of the incident remained to be weighed. De Spain was much upset. A conference with Scott, whose judgment in any affair was marked by good sense, and with Lefever, who, like a woman, reached by intuition a conclusion at which Scott or De Spain arrived by process of thought, only revealed the fact that all three, as Lefever confessed, were nonplused.

"It's one of two things," declared Lefever, whose eyes were never dulled by late hours. "Either they've sent this to lure you into the gap and 'get' you, or else—and that's a great big 'or else'—she needs you. Henry, did that message—I mean the way it was worded—sound like Nan Morgan?"

De Spain could hardly answer. "It did, and it didn't," he said finally. "But," his companions saw, during the pause by which his lips expressed the resolve he had finally reached, that he was not likely to be lured from it—"I am going to act just as if the word came from Nan and she does need me."

More than one scheme for getting quickly into touch with Nan was proposed and rejected within the next ten minutes. And when Lefever, after conferring with Scott, put up to De Spain a proposal that the three should ride into the gap together and demand Nan at the hands of Duke Morgan, De Spain had reached another conclusion.

"I know you are willing to take more than your share, John, of any game I play. In the first place, it isn't right to take you and Bob in where I am going on my own personal affair. And I know Nan wouldn't do it. The prospect of an all-around fight on her account. Fighting is a horror on her account. Fighting is a horror on her account."

Scott had already made up a tentative list. He named four—first Farrell Kennedy, who was in town, and said nobody should go if he didn't; Frank Elpasso, the Texan; the Englishman, Tommy Meggison; and Wickwire, if he could be located—any one of them, Lefever knew, could give an account of himself under all circumstances.

While Scott was getting his men together, De Spain, accompanied by Lefever, was riding toward Music Mountain. Scott had urged on them but one parting caution—not to leave the aspens until rain began falling. When he spoke there was not a cloud in the sky. "It's going to rain tonight, just to that girl. I've got her teen-agers to think about as well as my own. I've decided what to do. John. I'm going in alone."

"You're going in alone?"

"Tonight. Now, I'll tell you what I'd like you to do if you want to ride with me and wait till morning, outside El Capitan. If you don't hear from me by ten o'clock, ride back to Calabasas and notify Jeffries to look for a new manager."

"On the contrary, if we don't hear from you by ten o'clock, Henry, we will blaze our way in and drag out your body." Lefever put up his hand to cut off any rejoinder. "Don't discuss it. What happens after ten o'clock tomorrow morning, if we don't hear from you before that, can't possibly be of interest to you or make any difference." He paused, but De Spain saw that he was not done.

When he resumed, he spoke in a tone different from that which De Spain usually associated with him. "Henry, you've pulled a good many rough games in this country. No man knows better than I that you never pulled one for the looks of the thing or to make people talk—or that you ever took a chance you didn't feel you had to take. But it isn't humanly possible you can keep this up for all time! It can't go on forever. The pitcher goes to the well once too often, Henry; there comes a time when it doesn't come back."

"Understand—I'm not saying this to attempt to dissuade you from the worst job you ever started in on. I know your mind is made up. You won't listen to me; you won't listen to Scott; and I'm too good an Indian not to know where I get off, or not to do what I'm told. But this is what I've been thinking of a long, long time; and that is what I feel I ought to say, here and now."

The two men were sitting in De Spain's room. De Spain was staring through the broad south window at the white-capped peaks of the distant range. He was silent for a time. "I believe you're right, John," he said after a while. "I know you are. In this case I am tied up more than I've ever been tied before; but I've got to see it through as best I can, and take what comes without whining. My mind is made up, and, strange as it may sound to you, I feel that I am coming back. Not but what I know it's due me, John. Not but what I expect to get it sometime. And maybe I'm wrong now; but I don't feel as it's coming till I've given all the protection to that girl that a man can give to a woman."

CHAPTER XXIII.

A Surprising Slip.

Scott was called by Lefever to conclude in secret the final arrangements. The ground about the quaking aspens, and nearest El Capitan, afforded the best concealment close to the gap. And to this point Scott was directed to bring what men he could before daylight the following morning.

"It's a short notice to get many men together—of the kind we want," admitted Lefever. "You'll have to skimpish some between now and midnight. What do you think you can do?"

Scott had already made up a tentative list. He named four—first Farrell Kennedy, who was in town, and said nobody should go if he didn't; Frank Elpasso, the Texan; the Englishman, Tommy Meggison; and Wickwire, if he could be located—any one of them, Lefever knew, could give an account of himself under all circumstances.

While Scott was getting his men together, De Spain, accompanied by Lefever, was riding toward Music Mountain. Scott had urged on them but one parting caution—not to leave the aspens until rain began falling. When he spoke there was not a cloud in the sky. "It's going to rain tonight, just

"Kie-Yie-Yie! Get Me 'Gets-It' Quick!"

2 Drops Make Corn "Fall" Off!

"I've joined the Never-Again Club. Never again will I use anything for corns but 'Gets-It'." But 2 drops of "Gets-It" will do it. From that second the corn begins to shrivel, instead of swelling up like a little white sponge. Then it loosens from your foot—and, glory be!—the corn comes off as though you'd take a glove off your hand.

"Gets-It" is the corn destroyer of the age. More "Gets-It" is sold by many times than any other corn remedy in existence. Try it and you'll know the reason why. It takes two seconds to apply it, and it dries at once. That's all. Don't experiment—follow the experience of millions and use "Gets-It."

"Gets-It" is sold everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

the same," predicted Scott. "Don't leave the trees till it gets going. Those gap scouts will get under cover and be hunting for a drink the minute it gets cold—I know them. You can ride right over their toes, if you'll be patient."

The sun set across the range in a drift of grayish-black, low-lying clouds, which seemed only to await its disappearance to envelop the mountains and empty their moisture on the desert. By the time De Spain and Lefever reached the end of their long ride a misty rain was drifting down from the west. The two men had just ridden into the quaking aspens when a man coming out of the gap almost rode into them. The intruders had halted and were sufficiently hidden to escape notice, had not Lefever's horse indiscreetly coughed. The man from the gap reined up and called out. Lefever answered.

Dinner Stories

"Would ye do something for a poor sailor?" inquired the seedy wanderer at the gate.

"Poor sailor?" said the lady at work over the washtub.

"Yes, I followed the water for sixteen years."

"Well," said the worker, as she resumed her labors, "you certainly don't look as if you ever caught up with it!"

One evening a few years ago, Brander Matthews and Francis Wilson were dining together at the Players Club of New York when the former made the suggestion that they write a letter to Mark Twain. "But," objected Mr. Wilson, "we don't know where he is, for it was at a time when Mr. Clemens was always traveling somewhere." "Oh," said Prof. Matthews, "that does not make any difference. It is sure to find him. He is in some place in Europe, so think he had better put on a five-cent stamp." So the two sat down and composed a letter which they addressed to

MARK TWAIN.

God Knows Where.

In due time they received a reply from Mr. Clemens which said briefly, "He did. Then some one sent a letter addressed to 'The Devil Knows Where,' which also reached him, and he answered, 'He did, too.'"

"Ye-es," hesitated Mr. Justward, "these biscuits are pretty good, but they're just a little more—"

"Your mother made them," interrupted Mrs. J. quickly.

"Of them ended Mr. J., with a flash of inspiration.

PRESIDENT FLOUTS CONGRESS, REFUSES TO LIVE IN WHITE HOUSE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Buenos Aires, Feb. 9.—Through Minister of the Interior Gomez, President Irigoyen today served notice on Congress that he proposes to lead an unostentatious private life as he likes even if he is chief magistrate.

Criticism of some of his personal economies developed in connection with the budget discussion in the chamber of deputies. Although the president has assigned all his salary to charity, the critics expressed the opinion that so rich a man ought to be able to assume somewhat more state, considering the official position he occupies.

"President Irigoyen," said Gomez, "assumed his great responsibilities at the call of the people, but, as president, he does not intend to abandon his simpler manner of living as a private citizen."

The president still refuses to live in the Casa Rosada, or Argentine White House, which he has turned into suites of government offices, but makes his home in his own very modest residence with his daughter, only two or three servants and practically no company.

ENGLISH SHIP OWNERS PAY BIG TONNAGE TAX

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Feb. 9.—In reckoning excess profits which the shipping companies will have to hand over to the government, the shipping paper Fair Play takes the amount set aside by thirty companies—namely 23 pounds 4 shillings per ton gross—and gives a total of thirty-four millions sterling as the contribution from twenty million tons of steam shipping owned in this country. "This would indicate," says the paper, "that the total profits of shipping companies exceeded the datum line by about ninety-one and a half million sterling, equal to a dividend of nearly 50 per cent on the pre-war value of two hundred million pounds. But ship owners retain only about seventeen and a half million of this profit out of which they have to

THE BOOB FAMILY

Prof. Hertzog Praises This Perfect Laxative

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin an Ideal Remedy for Constipation.

In every family there is more or less occasion for a laxative remedy. It is to meet this need that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is prepared, and that this combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin fulfills its purpose as proven by its place in thousands of American homes.

Prof. F. J. Hertzog, the well known linguist, 2341 North Orianna St., Philadelphia, Pa., wrote to Dr. Caldwell that he has used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in his household with excellent results and that he and his family consider it indeed a friend in need, and always keep a bottle of it on hand.

Constipation is the direct cause of much serious illness and is a condition that should never be neglected. Harsh cathartics and violent purgatives should never be employed to relieve constipation, because the very violence of their action shocks the entire system. A mild laxative, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is far preferable, being mild and gentle in its action, without griping or other pain or discomfort; its freedom from all opiate or narcotic taints makes it an ideal remedy for children.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold in drug stores everywhere for fifty cents a bottle. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure to get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

SOME FRENCH CITIES OWE GERMANY DEBT SINCE WAR OF 1870

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Paris, Feb. 9.—Discussion of the proposition for the integral reparation of all war damages in France has developed the fact that some French cities and villages have not yet finished obligations incurred in order to satisfy requisitions by the German armies in 1870.

Two villages of the old department of the Haute-Marne, one of the Haute-Saone, two of the Somme, and eight in Meurthe and Moselle still owe a portion of the money borrowed to pay the contributions levied upon them while the city of Amiens, a million francs during the short occupation of 1914, has not yet finished paying the five millions the Germans levied on the town in 1870. She still owes three millions.

CHINESE MAKE PROTEST TO FRENCH SEIZURES

Peking, Feb. 9.—Showers of petitions are reaching parliament daily concerning the action of the French in forcibly seizing an addition to their concession in Tien-tsin. Practically all the provisional military governors and high officials throughout China have sent messages and memorials urging the government to resist the French aggression.

UNDERTAKERS AT WAR; BURIALS ARE DELAYED

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Feb. 8.—A new public danger threatens the country in the difficulties of burying the dead. It is caused by the scarcity of undertakers, coffin-makers and grave-diggers and has resulted in delaying funerals for days, a condition which is aggravated by an epidemic which would become very serious if not forestalled that danger and also to postpone the present situation compulsory cremation is being advocated.

The tribunals which sit in all parts of the country and hear appeals for exemption from military service, have passed into military service every man whose work is not indispensable to the existence of the nation. The result is that they have "combed out" the undertaking trade and taken most of the skilled grave-diggers for another sort of digging.

It seems also that the shortage of the labor force will have to be made up by the largest undertaking firm in London which used to turn out between 600 and 700 coffins a week says that to add to the difficulties the railroad authorities have made a new regulation that nothing over 112 pounds is to be sent by passenger train. This means that coffins with few exceptions will have to be shipped by freight trains. "Bodies," he said, "are waiting at every London station for hours for lack of labor to catch them away."

The Daily Mail has taken the lead in the campaign for cremation. It also sees a danger in too many cemeteries. "This reform of funeral procedure is long overdue," says the paper. "It will have to extend to the cemeteries and to the funeral directors and eventually to the wider and even more important consideration of the ever-growing encroachment of cemeteries upon land needed for building or agriculture."

NORTH CENTER

North Center, Feb. 8.—The severe cold weather has delayed tobacco shipping again.

Otto Kestner, Sr., delivered his tobacco to Janesville parties Monday.

Miss Ella Kopke is visiting at the home of her brother William, in the town of Porter.

Mrs. Ed. Churchill and little daughter of Janesville spent a few days recently at the home of Herby Hensel.

Mrs. Charles Kopke is helping to care for her daughter, Mrs. John Berry, and infant of Janesville.

Miss Minnie Fox visited at L. Barrell's Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. O'Neill and family departed for their Montana home Tuesday night. Thomas Cassidy returning with them for a few weeks' visit.

Relatives in this vicinity were more than pleased that Mr. and Mrs. John Cullen of Janesville were rejoicing over their first arrival. A son, Mother and babe are being cared for at Mrs. Thomas Cassidy's home.

In honor of Mrs. Thomas Cassidy's birthday, a party was given at the home of Mrs. Cassidy on Saturday night. The party was a very cold one, but nevertheless quite a few braved the severity of the weather and enjoyed a pleasant evening. Honors were won by Messrs. William Ford and Vivian Conway, Misses Anna Kersten and Edna Barrett. At twelve o'clock a delicious supper was served. Immediately after a handsome set of silver knives and forks were presented to Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill, it being their fifteenth wedding anniversary, and a handsome brush to Joseph O'Neill. A few more hours were then spent listening to the piano and guests, declaring Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy royal entertainers even if the night was cold.

NORTHEAST PORTER

Northeast, Porter, Feb. 7.—Irving Gardner spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Madison, where he attended the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Eggen.

Frank, Jr., and James Sayre attended the hog show in Madison Tuesday.

Glenn Gardner of the University of Wisconsin, spent Monday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gardner, and Mrs. Mary Gardner, who was taken to the hospital in Madison last Monday for an operation for appendicitis, is gaining and is expected home Saturday.

The many friends and acquaintances of Mrs. Allen Viney of Edgerton, were shocked and grieved to hear of her death on Friday. Though she had been ill with pneumonia for about a week, her death came very unexpectedly.

Funeral services were held Monday at 10:30 at the Catholic church in Edgerton, and burial in the family lot at Cooksville.

Large children, Lester, Lloyd and Lillian and other relatives to mourn her loss.

John Zacharias, who has been very sick with bronchial pneumonia for some time, passed away Sunday evening at his home. Funeral services will be held from the home Thursday at 2:00 p. m., with burial in the Passert cemetery. He leaves a wife, who has been very ill with rheumatism and heart trouble, and who is still confined to her bed, and four children, George, Heber, Florence and Wilmar.

CANNERS MEET TO DO WHAT THEY CAN FOR CANNING WITH CANS.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 9.—The great American tin can, out of which two-thirds of the United States eats its meals, was opened up for investigation by the canners of the Northwest here today.

The cans as such, sterilization, by products, production, distribution and other problems will be discussed.

There Is a Devil

By REV. J. H. RALSTON, D.D.
Secretary of Correspondence Department,
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—And bring us not into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one.—R. V. Matt. 6:13.

The Paternoster, or what we commonly, although erroneously, call the Lord's Prayer, is by multitudes of people in all lands where the Bible is read, but in that prayer there is a petition that is used by those familiar with the English Bible, whose meaning is not at all grasped, and that is, "deliver us from evil." This would seem to mean that all about the petitioner there was some atmosphere or influence that might contaminate him, and he is praying that he might be delivered from that contamination.

The revisers of the Bible have rendered splendid service in correcting the translation at that point, and in the petition we read, "deliver us from the evil one." Certainly no scholarly interpretation of that passage in the original language would make it mean less than "deliver us from the evil"—the definite article indicating that personality is in mind, and the translation is therefore, as we find it in the revised version, fully justified.

If we would give any honor to the Scriptures that give us the Lord's Prayer, we must give honor to the Scriptures also that teach most clearly concerning the existence, the character, the work and the destiny of the devil.

In the scripture devils, or demons, and spoken of very frequently. We find also that there is a prince of the demons, who is called the devil, or Satan, or, as in the Greek of the New Testament, diabolos, the latter word occurring 35 times. The use of the term devil, or Satan, is very frequent, as if there was no question of the reality and the personality referred to, as, for instance, in the first chapter of Job, in the Gospels, in the Acts of the Apostles and in the Epistles.

While the field of operation of the devil is largely in the heavenly or upper regions, it is also on this earth, as is proved by Job 1:7 and 1 Peter 5:8, the latter passage reading, "the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour." It is appropriate, therefore, that men pray, "deliver us from the evil one."

Granting that there is such a being on the earth, is he in a dormant or active state? The words just used, inferring that he is walking about seeking whom he may devour, would prove that he is very alert. He is busy every moment, and does not hesitate to enter the most sacred places to do his diabolical work. If a man is not stirred up to the commission of some God or man-offending sin, the devil is just as busy when he keeps him from being interested in some positively righteous action. The present slumber of God's people in all lands and churches, is just as much the work of the devil as his activities in countries ravaged by war. The devil takes myriad forms in his operation, now blinding the eyes of men lest the light of the glory of the gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine upon them; or, when he sees the truth drop into some needy heart, he at once takes it up, as the bird takes up the seed fallen on the beaten pathway; or, when he knows a man is receiving the truth, he immediately comes to that man and sows the seeds of error in his heart, so that he cannot bear the proper fruit; or possibly, he finds one of God's children; most active and efficient, and he gets in his way as he did with Paul and his companions on more than one occasion.

Few of those who are in the Bible called the children of the devil appear to recognize their father. They constantly do his bidding and afterwards reap the reward of his deception and malice. Those who have become the children of God by faith in Jesus Christ, are aware of the personality of the devil, and are given certain specific instructions as to how to deal with him. They are told to be vigilant and that they are to resist him; when he oppresses them sometimes very hard in order to crush them, they are told, not to yield to him; and as he sometimes appears before them in a fighting attitude, they are told to fight him.

Probably it may be well to consider the devil as concerned in the affairs of men generally. All the evil in the world—war, cruelty, oppression, dishonesty, unkindness, graft, suspicion, jealousy, etc.—directly come from the devil, who is a powerful, personal being hating God and man. His chief spite is vented against Jesus Christ. It is most delightful to know that a day is coming when the devil will be bound, when Jesus will reign on the earth. After that day he will be utterly cast out, and this world, now cursed with the result of man's sin, will be a place of delight, not only with men but with beasts of the field and with all the creation as we know it.

First Quarter. Lesson V. John IV. 5:14; 24:26. February 11, 1917.

JESUS AND THE WOMAN OF SAMARIA.

Jesus transferring his ministry from Judea to Galilee in transit places the lesson of his gospel in the heart of Samaria. He had spent eight months of the first year in Jerusalem; but the approach of winter, and that worse winter of Pharisaical hostility, bade him find a more congenial locality. He ignored the prejudice of the Jews, and gave an object-lesson by going through Samaria.

Jesus, weary, "sat thus upon a well, a Samaritan well, upon the ground, his side against the stone parapet of the well, his arm upon its top, and his head supported by his hand."

A woman approaches. She comes, perhaps, at this unusual hour because her character made it impossible for her to come at the time when the Samaritan women visited the well. She lowers her earthen vessel, by the cord a hundred feet to the water. Just as she lifts the jar to her head, the traveler asks a drink. Putting himself under obligation to her by his request. He took her good will for granted. "We desire not him whose service we ask."

What service is kindness! This sinful woman used only to epithet—gentle politeness transmutes her into a docile pupil. She recognizes the nationality of the stranger. A Jew—but where is the racial prejudice? She vaguely recognizes his moral superiority, and is prepared for the step in advance, to which Jesus leads her in his next remark.

Poetry is, in measure, the association of superior ideas with common objects. If that be so, Jesus was an ideal poet. He takes the commonest of objects, water, and the commonest of experiences, the quenching of thirst with this natural fluid, to portray the most uncommon experience.

While Jesus lets in a ray of light upon a mind from which the contrasts nature's water with the living water. Water for only the briefest period slakes thirst. The path to the fountain is well trodden; but the gift of God is the transplanting of a perennial fountain into the very soul—a fountain whose fall jet penetrates even the immortal life above.

The poor outcast is enamored of this "gift." She asks for it, but in terms which reveal the fact that the husks of literalism have not all been stripped off. The heaviest duty of her life is this journey from city to well and back; the laborious drawing appliances; the carrying of the heavy jar. If the gift of God will set her free from this toil, and yet keep her from thirst, she wants it. At the same time she has a dawning consciousness that the gift means more than this. "Like a skillful surgeon, Jesus inserts the gleaming lance of his question. The incidents of an adulterous career are laid bare. The woman is in the presence of Omnipotence. The exact details of her unsavory life are noted. Yet such gentleness is irresistible. The thing is done, not in such a manner as to make her cry, "Hast thou found me, O mine enemy?" but rather, "Sir, I perceive thou art a prophet."

A seared conscience is softened, confession is made and tears easily to the spiritual life of the teaching. She knows that the water of which he spoke is for the washing of regeneration—the gift is a new heart.

In the joy of her new life she propounds a question to the Divine Teacher. Where shall she worship the infinite One whose ineffable gift she had just received? On Gerizim, to which she pointed as she spoke; or in Jerusalem, from which he had just come? In answer to this question, Jesus unfolds that basal principle of Christianity, that all the earth is holy, and no one spot more holy than another; that the item of topography in religion is henceforth to be dropped; and, further, that henceforth to a Spirit-God, spirit-sacrifices only shall be made.

The woman, her clouded mind now thoroughly illuminated, looked up, and adoringly exclaimed, "Your teaching is just like that which we might expect from the Messiah himself!" The Savior accepted her loving challenge; and in deepened Samaria, and to a woman till late degraded, he made his first categorical declaration of Messiahship.

THE TEACHER'S LANTERN.
The Samaritan woman may well represent that class who probably would never come to Jesus of their own accord, as Nicodemus stands for the seeking and inquiring class. Some seem thoroughly unsympathetic; they have eyes and ears, but never use them in religious matters. They are likely to die in the treadmill of the daily tasks which concern what we shall eat and drink and wear. How to get them above the rut, so that they may see the new heaven and the new earth,—that is the problem. They will not come to us. We must go to them. We must make an opportunity to speak to them of religion.

Two classes, but one gospel for both! Not one gospel for Nicodemus and another for the Samaritan woman. "Jesus gives the same testimony to the ignorant schismatic and sinner as to the sanctified Pharisee. The terminus was the same, but the approaches were necessarily different."

February 11, 1917. Luke XIX. 1-10 CONFESSION.
(Consolation Meeting.)

The saying "Call to the Colors" has thrilling significance in these days. It is the demand of an imperiled government for the citizen's patriotic service even to the full measure. Unhesitating obedience is a noble act everywhere, and greatly admired. There is also a spiritual call to the colors. It is Jesus saying "Follow me!" The intelligent, voluntary, continuous obedience to that summons is the noblest act of which the rational soul is capable. It causes joy in heaven and helps bring the millennium forward. There are men who could march to cannon's mouth sooner than acknowledge themselves Christians at risk of ridicule. Yet never before did the Master need so much open confessors. In these dark days who will say "I am on the Lord's side!"

ARMY CLOUD LIFTS AFTER LONG YEARS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Feb. 9.—Disappearance from the army under a cloud, 21 years a "mystery man" in South America and now ancient British court records are skinning revealed today in the story of the man who came back.

Friends of Sergeant (Major Greeney, Royal Engineers, have just learned the whole truth in connection with Greeney's sudden leave from his battalion headquarters at Aldershot in 1895.

The irresistible lure of the great war which called the deserter from a remote part of Chile caused him to appear before a court-martial, again at Aldershot, just 21 years and three days after his was officially reported missing on the barracks room bulletin board. Desertion usually means death but this court-martial had only the heart to reduce its victim to the rank of private.

It was back in the days when the Duke of Connaught was commander-in-chief of the Engineers. Greeney had charge of a little yard and worked the balloon works—a particular portion of the Aldershot camp which is now credited with being the germ of the Royal Flying Corps.

But records, yellow with over two decades of life, show today that someone was guilty of selling certain army supplies. It meant that Greeney, during all the years but living down the past as a mining prospector in the mountains about Iquique, Chile, it was in this isolated wilderness that the tales of European battlefields reached the deserter and the call of the army was overpowering. It drew him back to England to face what might mean dishonorable death.

Virtue and erect at forty when he fled from Aldershot, Greeney is in the sixties today but still erect and soldierly. His temples are whitened and there are lines in his face. He wears the simple uniform of the Sappers and is soon destined for his further "comeback" in northern France.

FAMOUS BEAUTY GOES TO CAPITAL AS SENATOR'S WIFE

Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry.

It has long been the cherished ambition of Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry, social leader and beauty of Newport and Washington, to go to the national capital as a senator's wife. Her ambition is at last to be realized. Her husband was elected to the senate on the Democratic ticket in Rhode Island at the recent election.

SUDDEN DEATH

Before an insurance company will take a risk on your life the examining physician will test your water and report whether you are a good risk.

When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, or twinges and pains of lumbago, or rheumatism and gout, or sleep is disturbed two or three times a night—take heed, before too late!

You can readily overcome such conditions and prolong life by taking the advice of a famous physician, which is: "Keep the kidneys in good order, avoid too much meat, salt, alcohol or tea. Drink plenty of pure water and drive the uric acid out of the system by taking Anuric in tablet form."

You can obtain Anuric at almost all drug stores. It was the discovery of Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo.

A PROMINENT WOMAN OF WISCONSIN.

Appleton, Wis.—"I found Dr. Pierce's Prescription to be very good. About six years ago I had womanly weakness. I took this medicine and it cured me in about six months. I am quite sure it is a permanent cure, as I have never felt any return of this ailment and am well and hearty as any one could wish to be. I can recommend the 'Prescription' very highly."—Mrs. C. M. Do American Principles Stand for Justice?

FROM childhood you have heard it preached that in America there is protection—equality of protection. Every citizen knows that, ever since there has been an American government, the institutions and laws of every state have provided that property shall not be injured or destroyed without just compensation.

There has been an inherent honesty in this. Nor has there been any complaint against it by any fair-minded citizen.

When the cattle of farmers are killed in order that disease might be wiped out, compensation is made.

If firemen are compelled to blow up your building so that a conflagration may be checked, you are fully and honestly compensated.

Then, is it any more than fair, just and honorable that other private industries which employ labor, consume great quantities of raw materials supplied from the farms and pay a greater share of the public taxation than any other should be compensated for their losses when such industries are destroyed by the vote of the people?

Should any class of individuals or any industry be discriminated against?—have lesser rights within the law?

If you are a fair-minded individual, you must endorse the principles of just compensation without discrimination.

Destruction or confiscation by means of legislation without compensation is diametrically opposed to the great fundamental American principle of justice and equal rights for all.

Put yourself on record as in favor of just compensation for one and all alike.

Clothes Values Like These Present a Forceful Inducement to Provident Men

From the present outlook it seems certain that it will soon be very difficult, if not impossible, to secure such unimpeachable qualities as are presented in the Overcoats offered in this sale. In the near future it will be hard to secure fabrics that will not be more or less adulterated, at the same time prices will be higher.

In view of these conditions and the fact that we are offering high standard pre-war qualities at less than present prices, this sale should excite more than ordinary interest and prompt provident men to solve the clothes question here now.

These are regular $18 and $20
Overcoats which are now priced at $12.45

REV. KID WEDGE USES HIS RING KNOWLEDGE TO BETTER HIS BOYS

A long time ago, when boxers were getting no more money for the labor than they were entitled to, there was a budding young lightweight hanging around Omaha, Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo. He grew into a well-weight, but he persisted in just hanging around.

This youth never set the world alight with his accomplishments, but it was said that he could take more punches and come back quicker than any man alive. It was also said of him that a fairer, cleaner boxer never stepped under the ropes of a ring. He fought Clarence English, a boxer of just the opposite type, and Clarence admitted he had taken a big job on his hands in punishing the youngster. English, at that time, was one of the best lightweights in the game and one of the trickiest.

Time went on and the youth gradually quit fighting. He couldn't whip anyone who amounted to anything. Then one day he listened to a street evangelist and a new light was on Rev. Kid Wedge started from there and he has been knocking out the devil ever since.

Recently there came the news from up at Rhineland that Kid Wedge had applied for and been granted a license to conduct boxing bouts in a church of which he was pastor. Rev. Wedge himself stated that he was going to teach the young boys in his Sunday school how to box. Spectators and boxers will be members of the church and the Sunday school.

Rev. Wedge has organized an amateur athletic class in connection with his Sunday school and takes personal charge of boxing classes.

BUSHEY FIVE HERE TOMORROW EVENING

Fast Appleton Team Comes for Second Game of Season With Cardinals.

Members of the Bushey College basketball team of Appleton, which meets the Cardinals tomorrow night at the Auditorium, will be greatly improved as a team over the showing they made early in the season, according to word received today by Manager Caldwell. The Busheys were a clever aggregation in their first appearance and held the Cardinals to a ten to ten tie after three extra periods of playing time, a game that will never be forgotten by any fan who witnessed it.

The up-staters have been winning consistently since their visit here and have taken into camp everything in the form of basketball teams in the Fox River valley. They have won from the Oshkosh Federals and have downed the two or three teams playing at Neenah and Menasha.

Against the reported improvement of the Busheys the local team has also been polished up considerably. It will be an entirely different five than that which met the visitors early in the season.

MORRIS MILLER

The result of the three post-series of 1916 between the two major leagues shows plainly the American league outclasses the National in playing strength at this time, and should serve as a warning to some of the inefficient National league managers, who must get busy in an intelligent and liberal manner if they wish to retain the prestige of their organization.

In the main event of the fall, the Red Sox of Boston completely outclassed the following Brooklyn Dodgers that the spectators wondered how Robble's team ever came through with a victory in its own league. The Sox won four out of five games and came very near making it five straight. They accomplished this feat without air tight pitching.

The Brooklyn, by crude mechanical strength, straightaway hitting power, and very good pitching, had won the pennant in the old league, but beating out a set of poor ball clubs, only slightly inferior to themselves. But when they stacked up against an ably handled and nervy outfit they wilted away to nothing and put up the worst ball that has ever been seen in a major league. The Red Sox played real baseball of the highest type. There was no question at all that the Dodgers would finish in the second division in the American league.

In addition to winning the main series, the American league clubs in Chicago and St. Louis triumphed over their local rivals. The White Sox won four straight games from the Cubs, who made a miserable showing, while the Browns took four out of five from the Cardinals. All down the line came the evidence that the American league clubs are, on the average, better handled than the National league teams.

There is no use in framing up an alibi for the poor showing of the Nationals. When three clubs in a league lost twelve out of fourteen important games to their rivals, there is no excuse to offer. It simply means that the National league club owners must get together, cast aside their petty jealousies and their penny policies and devote some industry and some capital to regaining their lost prestige. On the showing of the past season the American league is far too strong for the Nationals and plays 50 per cent faster and smarter baseball.

Ray Bronson, former manager of the Milwaukee Stars, has gathered under his wing almost enough boxers to form a baseball team. He is now in Toledo, among those under his tutelage are: Jack McCarty, 158 pounds; Denver, Frankie Murphy, 138 pounds; Bartling Schultz, 126 pounds; Frankie Dailley, 123 pounds; One Punch Celmar, 160 pounds; Jimmy Wade, 142 pounds; Young Denny, 142 pounds.

Pulton is not the first man who has worked himself up to the position of challenger as direct result of a little imprudent bout with the heavyweight champion. Jim Corbett once put the gloves on with John L. Sullivan in San Francisco and in a few minutes of light sparring he became convinced that he could whip Sullivan.

Hans Wagner, a married man of a month is suffering his first severe spell of sickness. He has been confined to the home of his sister in Carnegie with what doctors say is the grip, the attack being brought on by an automobile trip in rough weather. Before sturdy old Honus was married he could stand any sort of weather. Now he has to be coddled like a babe. Looks like the Fates might have to hunt some one else to play first base this season. John Henry will bruise his toe or something right off the reel and be laid up half the season.

FOOTBALL TROPHY FOR NEXT SEASON'S VICTORS IS EXCELLENT PIECE OF ART

J. L. Lambert's football championship trophy.

A statue glorifying the football hero has recently been completed by J. L. Lambert, a sculptor of note, and it will be used next season as a trophy to be awarded to the school whose team is named by experts to be the season's winner. 1917 will be the first year that a championship trophy has been awarded to the season's leading football team and the Lambert statue will adorn the school's trophy. The eastern schools will be the only ones competing for the trophy.

Oyster City when the outlaw league broke up, has been postponed until next April by the United States district court of Philadelphia. It had been set for January 15, then postponed until February 13 and now comes another postponement. The suit was filed last March. It begins to look as if it might come to trial about the time the ball players go out on strike for the "rights."

Funny what a difference one punch can make. Six months ago Willie Jackson was a funny, soft-knocking but fast third-batter. His purse ranged between $25 and $150 with more of the former than the latter. He worked his way into the second division by outpunching a few boxers in and around Philadelphia and finally came a trial horse for high-class performers.

A master of boxing he feinted Sullivan into knots and he left the stadium sure that he was Sullivan's master. The result is ring history. He met the champion and Sullivan lost his title. Jim Jeffries was on a barnstorming tour with Bob Fitzsimmons when he was champion, and he sparred with Jack Monroe in Butte, Mont. Jeffries was floored, said the flash that went around the world, and

REAL ESTATE MEN OF STATE TO MEET

Madison, Wis., Feb. 9.—Announcement was made today of the annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Real Estate Brokers, which will be held here next Thursday and Friday, February 16-18. One of the principal matters which will come before the meeting is the proposed law for the licensing of real estate men as endorsed by the Milwaukee real estate board. The measure has also been endorsed by the Racine, Green Bay and Madison boards. Members of these associations claim that the purpose of the proposed law is to protect the public from the acts of unscrupulous brokers.

One of the principal speakers at the convention will be James Schenmerhorn, editor of the Detroit Times. The annual address of the association will be delivered by President Ben Faast of Eau Claire.

F. A. Morey, a member of the Racine real estate board, will lead the discussion over the subject of the activities of real estate boards. Rural development problems will be discussed by W. A. Blackburn, Bruce, and W. R. Thompson, Ladysmith. The subject of "Practical Real Estate Advertising" will be discussed by Stanley Clagus, Chicago; "Rural Community Development" by Senator A. H. Wilkinson, Bayfield; "What San Planning Can Do for Wisconsin Cities and Villages" by Prof. L. S. Smith of the University; "The Relation of Real Estate Men to City Planning" by Scott R. Beaver, executive secretary of the Indiana Real Estate association; and "The Real Estate Men's Interest in Districting" by August Richter, a member of the Milwaukee Real Estate Association. The subject of an address by Senator Roy F. Wilcox of Eau Claire. At the closing session Governor Philipp is slated for an address.

POLITICAL UPHEAVAL SEEN AT NORWAY CITY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Christiania, Norway, Feb. 9.—A significant political upheaval is indicated by the remarkable Socialist gain in the municipal elections in Christiania this month. For the last sixteen years the Norwegian capital has been governed by the Conservative party, but at the elections just concluded the Socialists won 42 out of the 84 seats on the aldermanic board, leaving the Conservatives 37 and the Radicals 5. The Radical members are known to be irreconcilable to casting their votes for a Conservative mayor, and it is therefore predetermined that the Socialists will forthwith elect one of their representatives for mayor.

The growth of the Socialist vote all over Norway has been marked in recent years since suffrage was extended to every man and woman over twenty-five years of age. In the last state election, a year ago, the Socialists mustered 40 per cent of the voters. One of the reasons for the recent gains has been the high cost of living, and many of the middle class people whose wages have not increased proportionately have gone over to the Socialist platform, which would have the government take charge of trade in the most necessary articles, such as food and fuel by means of municipal stores where everything would be sold at cost. Something has already been done along these lines, in the matter of imports of flour and sugar and the sale of fuel, potatoes, milk and fish, but the Socialist scheme would carry the government help much further, even to building dwellings for the poor and middle class workers, who are suffering for want of houses, or from the exorbitant rent now charged for even the poorest kind of rooms.

He Did. "Love is a tender thing," said he. "Then why not tender it?" said she timidly. Gazette Want Ads surely bring results.

The Other Side. "Married life," says a woman's page writer, "would be infinitely happier if married men would obey the whims of their wives with the clarity they displayed when their wives were their sweethearts." A. P. FELLOWS PASSES AWAY
SUDDENLY AT HIS HOME

(Special to the Gazette.)
Janesville, Feb. 9.—This community was shocked this morning by the sudden death of Almond Frank Fellows, better known to everyone here as "Al" Fellows, at his home on Park street at one o'clock this morning. Having been ill but a few days, friends hardly had time to realize his sickness before they were stunned by the news of his death.

Mr. Fellows was the only child of George and Helen Fellows and was born on a farm in the town of Center, January 2, 1872. Here the family lived until several years ago, when they came to Evansville where the father and son were engaged in the farm machinery business. Since the father's death, some years ago, the son has conducted the business.

On December 22, 1915, he was married to Miss Elizabeth Sargent, and to this union three children were born, Kenneth, Ronald and Elizabeth. They, with his aged mother, are left to mourn his loss.

Mr. Fellows was a genial, kind-hearted man, counting his friends by the legion. The sudden calling away of this man is a great loss to the Evansville community. To the bereaved family the loving sympathy of all is extended.

Notice of the funeral will be made later.

Miss Virginia Titus, from Chicago, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Eger. Mrs. Eger entertained a company of ladies at cards Thursday afternoon in honor of her friend.

Mrs. C. D. Barnard left for Madison Thursday for a few days' visit with Mrs. Florence Deiner.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shaw entertained Thursday at dinner Mrs. Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph West and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ellis.

Mrs. Nellie Hartley Webster, from Chicago, who has been visiting relatives in the east, is expected here in time for her brother, H. D. Webster, and will be here before proceeding to her western home.

Robins have been seen by several in this vicinity within the past few days. This surely should be authentic coming from Evansville, a strictly temperate city. Let us hope the old adage "An early bird catches an early worm" will prove true this year.

Miss Alice Wilder has returned to the Milwaukee normal school after visiting her mother, Mrs. N. D. Wilder, on Liberty street.

Mrs. Charles Eversen has returned from Tacoma, Washington, where she was called by the illness and death of her sister, Miss Bess Van Wart.

R. M. Anderson, a business visitor to Janesville the first of the week.

George Thurman, Jr., of Deloit spent Sunday at his parental home.

The Baptist church is one of the city's new organizations, and will meet in conclusion at the Lauson Jones home Friday evening.

The Baptist missionary society met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Myers Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wolfe, Jr., were in Janesville Wednesday.

Mrs. Nellie Gillies was a recent Brooklyn visitor.

Miss Hattie Axell is in Chicago for a few days' visit.

The Guild of St. John's church met at the home of Mrs. C. M. Smith, on Madison street, Thursday afternoon.

U. W. Hamilton is on the sick list. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanson, who have been visiting at Nashville, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. George and daughter Stella were called to Appleton Wednesday by the death of a great friend, Mr. George Holliday.

The February meeting of the Methodist church has been postponed until Thursday of next week on account of the teachers' convention at Madison.

The regular meeting of the common council was held at the city hall Tuesday evening, February 7, and was called to order by Mayor Campbell. Attendance consisted of Aldermen Embick, Linder, Foster and Williams. After the regular routine business was disposed of, an ordinance to license and control pawnbrokers and dealers in junk and second hand goods was proposed and passed, to take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication. The ordinance provides for a pawnbroker's license, fifty dollars per annum; for a junk dealer's license five dollars per annum; for a second hand dealer's license, one dollar per annum.

Mr. Goodrich of Nashville occupied the pulpit at St. John's church Sunday.

Miss Sadie Seyles is again able to take up her school work as teacher, after being confined to her home three months on account of an injury.

Fred Luchsing, who has been visiting in the city, has returned to his home in Deloit.

Glenn Magee of Chicago was a recent visitor to this city.

Little Donald White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas White, who has been quite ill, is better.

W. W. Gillies and sister, Miss Maggie Gillies, left this city for Chattanooga, Tenn. From there they will go on to St. Petersburg, Florida. Mr. Gillies will leave in time to be at Jacksonville, D. C., for the inauguration, but Miss Maggie, with her sister, Miss Lizzie, will remain in Florida for a longer stay.

Frank Griffith returned from Madison today, where he has been visiting his parents.

Interesting stories are told of a Buddhist image in a temple in the suburbs of Kyoto. According to a record contained inside the image, it was carved by a famous Buddhist priest, and it is believed that the worshippers of the image will surely receive divine favor. At one time when a fire broke out in the temple, unknown to the caretaker, the image awoke him by calling "Fire!" and thus saved the temple from destruction. Another story says that the image was once stolen by a thief, who, however, fell dead when he was running away. Still another report says that no thief ever accumulates on the head of the image.

JAP BUSINESS FEELS
PEACE MOVE QUAKE

Tokio, Feb. 9.—The peace move of the Central Powers was followed in Japan by a sudden and general business depression, which showed to what extent the industrial boom in this country is the result of the war. Enterprises devoted to furnishing supplies to the Entente Allies and shipping shares were so affected that the whole market dropped and the directors closed the exchange for several days. Buyers on a margin were forced to abandon the market altogether and there was considerable unloading regardless of values. It is felt that many stocks under the war influence had reached a stage of inflation and investors believe that after the atmosphere is cleared prices will return to a normal stage.

Addressing the metropolitan bankers, Premier Count Terauchi, referring to the German peace proposal, said to the temporary panic caused in economic circles, expressed the opinion that the present time is by no means opportune for the Entente Powers to conclude peace and that they should not lay aside arms and stop hostilities until they have attained their object. He continued: "The situation has favored the commerce and industry of the Empire. This will lead to the termination of the war, but in order to secure a permanent guarantee of commercial and industrial prosperity, efforts must be made to consider measures for post-bellum arrangements. Efforts must be made to enhance the credit of domestic manufactures and to develop a permanent market in foreign lands."

The Japanese press was practically unanimous in the opinion that the peace proposition of the Central Powers was not sincere and expressed the belief that it had been forced on Germany by internal conditions. Speaking of Japanese terms at a possible peace conference, the newspapers declared that Japan would never agree to the return of Kiaochow to Germany and a naval base on the coast of China.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Feb. 9, 1877.—The barn belonging to the Graham hotel which had the roof destroyed last week, when the Schuyler house was burned, has been fully repaired.

The songs of Auld Lang Syne will be sung at court street church tomorrow.

A tramp stopped with a farmer named Church, near Milton, on Wednesday night, and jumped out the window in the night after going through his host's pocket-book.

Mr. Edwards has commenced repairing the Schuyler house. He will make it three stories high, and will otherwise make many improvements in the house.

Yesterday afternoon the door bell to one of our first class family residences was made to ring. The lady of the house who understands the art of making bread as thoroughly as any baker in the city and who prefers to do it herself, was kneading some dough with sleeves rolled up, in the old fashioned way. The ring of the bell startled her. The idea of receiving callers in that condition was not to be thought of, and off she went to her room, put herself in the conventional style to meet her company, and smilingly tripped to the door to answer the ring of the bell. She was confronted with a little girl, poorly clad, who innocently asked, "Please can I have a button to put on the end of my string?"

GAS POISONING KILLS
AGED MONROE MAN A MONTH AFTER WIFE DIES

Monroe, Wis., Feb. 9.—Charles Ronspiez, aged 82 years, who narrowly escaped death from asphyxiation by coal gas escaping from a hard coal heater in his home on the night of Jan. 14, at which time his wife met her death, is dead as a result of the gas poisoning. For a time following the accident his life hung in the balance, but he showed improvement and it was believed that he would recover, but his advanced age was against him and his death resulted.

The aged couple, the wife dead, and the husband unconscious from the escaping gas, were found in their home on the afternoon of Jan. 15, when neighbors forced an entrance when they noticed they had not been about the premises as usual. It was evident that Mr. Ronspiez had noticed the gas and had arisen from the bed in an effort to get to the open air, falling unconscious in an adjoining room. His wife lay dead in her bed. That the aged man fell to the floor is believed to have saved his life, as he thus lay under the heavier strain of gas.
